BREAKING OPINION CALLED IT

The Leather Jacket Comes Off. The Affairs Are the Cover Story.

Nobody in Washington cares about affairs. They care about the exit.

SANTA CLARA, CA — Jensen Huang resigned Thursday, one day after a second affair surfaced, and Nvidia fell under $160. This is the cleanest way to let air out of Nvidia without crashing the whole market. Read it as a pressure valve: domestic propaganda released on schedule. My read was that Huang was working the other side of the spy story, China found out and was about to go public, so they got ahead of it and dumped the stock in a rough midterm week. Smart money knew Nvidia was too big, and this rollout was months in the making. Your 401k is the liquidity. Watch for the media telling you it was about an internal investigation. Called it.

Democrats: Brilliant at Winning, Allergic to Power

They haven't even taken the House back, and they've already failed their first test.

WASHINGTON — The House voted 211–204 to send the Hegseth impeachment articles back to committee, killing them for now. 11 Democrats didn't show up, Nancy Pelosi among them. Four blamed traffic. With them in the room, the motion fails and the House votes on impeaching the Defense Secretary this week. Voters handed them a wave and they couldn't make it to the chamber. Give Democrats power and they'll find a way to hand it right back. January is their second chance. Don't hold your breath.

The Deep South Cracks: Colom Takes Mississippi

The AP has called it. Mississippi went blue. Eventually.

JACKSON, MS — Democrat Scott Colom beat Sen. Cindy Hyde-Smith 49.2% to 48.7%, a margin of a few thousand votes. It's the first time Mississippi has sent a Democrat to the Senate in more than 40 years, and the party's eighth Senate flip of the cycle, powered by a surge in Black turnout. If Mississippi can flip, no seat in the South is safe.

Hit Aramco, Hit Everyone: The World's Oil Bill Comes Due

Iran's proxies are aiming at the world's biggest crude exporter.

RIYADH — Yemen's Iran-backed Houthis claimed strikes on the Aramco Tower in Riyadh, an Aramco facility at Abqaiq, pumping stations on the East-West pipeline and Riyadh's airport. Saudi Arabia confirmed a fire on the pipeline. Brent is sitting around $92. The oil markets will feel it, and the global market won't be far behind. I worry most for Japan and South Korea, who import nearly all their oil and can't absorb a long shock.

DC's Doomsday: Gunn and Safran Out, Marvel Man In

A new owner, a new boss, and a DC Universe in limbo.

Guest writer: Willy

BURBANK, CA — On Monday, it was announced that James Gunn and Peter Safran are OUT as the heads of DC Studios following Paramount Skydance's recent acquisition of Warner Bros. Discovery. Taking their place is former Marvel Studios producer Jeremy Latcham, who previously worked on films such as Iron Man, The Avengers, and Guardians of the Galaxy. Their departure leaves the future of the DC Universe uncertain, as several projects currently in development could face significant changes or potentially never see the light of day.

Last Week's Call

Jensen is an asset
A second affair surfaced and Huang resigned within a day. Told you.

They hit Aramco
Iran-backed Houthis claimed strikes on the Aramco Tower and Abqaiq. I said they would.

HEARD IN THE GROUP CHAT

I feel like 6 milllion dead in Africa to war kinda overshadows

Willy
Ummm actually I think James Gunn leaving DC is bigger than that
